CHASTITY BONO

Talk show in the works. I'm married since my teens. My husband's longtime close pal always was Berle. I've thus grown up with Milton. Boyoboyoboyoboy can I vouch for the fact he's a lover of the la- dies. I knew his wife Ruth. I knew his wife Ruth. I know his wife Lorna.

I hereby repeat a story that many in show biz know. But some may believe it is apocryphal. Not. It's true.

This was such a ladies man in his good days that pals gossiped about his swordplay. One day cronies bet that Milton was far better endowed than almost anyone they knew. They laid odds, threw their money into a pot and marched him into a men's room.

There one of them uttered this now immortal line: "OK Milton, take out just enough to win." Milton a homosexual? Yeah. Like Ron Perelman.

MEMBER, when Michael Moore was the little guy bearding the big guys? Well, this brilliant satirist's now one of the big guys. Recently, a new little guy, who happens to be a young, eager girl, said how many she thinks he is and how much she'd like to do what he does. He just stared. Finally she said, "And I'm from the same place, as you, too." To which he then replied: "So?" I've got a feeling she's going to plan a documentary on him. I mean, forget Ira Rennert.

VIP rang Fresco's for a 9:15 p.m. reservation. Boss Marian Scotto, up 5 a.m. for that day's "Today" show, stayed to personally supervise. And that's why some restaurants are successful. Schwarzenegger bought a new Gulfstream V private jet. New York, N.Y., you're a wonderful town. A 50-ft.-wide parking lot, 5,000-sq.-ft. on West 24th Street, just went for $1,500,000.

Village. Voice prepping a Rudy story. Calling everyone. Including actor Steve Inwood who once played him. Sept. 21 the Gershwins, Rodgers & Hammerstein, Lerner & Lowe, Meredith Willson, Frank Loesser, Lorenz Hart get immortalized on a 35-cent stamp issue.

READER Bob Edison was at Bill Hong's. Came his fortune cookie. It said: "A gambler not only will lose what he has, but also will lose what he doesn't have." Fine, but then, across the bottom of the message were his so-called "lucky numbers" — 5, 10, 25, 31."

Only in a Chinese restaurant, kids, only in a Chinese restaurant.

Re: Chastity Bono and Punchboy
Productions, Inc.

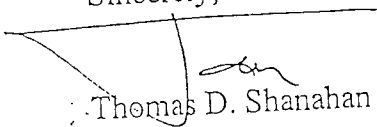

Dear Ms. Adams:

This firm represents Punchboy Productions, Inc in which Chastity Bono is a partner. Chastity and Punchboy have asked me to write in reference to your column in the New York Post on Monday, August 2, 1999. My clients wanted to correct some misinformation provided to you.

Chastity is not under contract with any entity or individual, specifically the "semi-genius" Carlos Rosa. He is not the producer and he did not approach her through her spokespeople. The concept for the program was the sole creation of Chastity and her partners and they have been actively developing the content and readying the show for production. The show is to be filmed in Los Angeles and we have not contracted with any particular studio at this time.

Thank you in advance for your attention to the above. If we can be of any further assistance, do not hesitate to call.

Sincerely,

Thomas D. Shanahan

TWO months ago I said a plan's on the drawing board for Chastity Bono to drop in on us. By computer. A TV talk show via the Internet. Gay and lesbian issues. Interviews to include celebs like mommy Cher, non-mommy Roseanne, plus shrinks and so-called societal and sexual experts.

Punchboy Productions, of which Chas is a partner, now informs me the concept was her sole creation and, even as we speak, they're actively developing the content and readying for production. It will film in L.A.

Although Marcel Marceau is about the only name not itching to do a talk show these days, you've got to admit Chastity's idea is great, right?
